SUMMARY

Creative director and senior copywriter with 20 years of experience leading copy teams and shaping brand voice for major organizations. Known for building high-functioning creative teams, developing the editorial standards and processes that help them do their best work, and writing copy that connects with real people — across channels, audiences, and moments that matter. Comfortable leading through ambiguity, coaching writers at every level, and partnering closely with designers, strategists, and stakeholders to bring ideas to life.

EXPERIENCE

Head Writer / Creative Director, Copy

June 2018 – Present

TD Bank — Studio 361, In-House Creative Agency · Mt. Laurel, NJ

- Lead and mentor a team of copywriters producing brand, retail, small business, and corporate sponsorship campaigns across video, OOH, print, digital, and social — ensuring every piece is on brief, on brand, and editorially sound.
- Contribute to studio creative and process improvements, including use of generative AI, to augment both our creative and productivity.
- Serve as the agency's lead writer for crisis communications, including responses to hurricanes, government shutdowns, and COVID-19 — trusted to write with clarity and empathy under pressure.
- Collaborate directly with designers and videographers on integrated campaigns, bringing a strong visual sensibility and commitment to cohesive storytelling across formats.
- Drive hiring, onboarding, and ongoing coaching of both full-time and contract copywriters, with a focus on building a culture of creative rigor and mutual support.
- Review and provide substantive editorial feedback on teammates' work, balancing creative excellence with brand consistency and business objectives.
- Played a central role in scaling Studio 361's creative operations as the team quadrupled in size, building the processes, workflows, and editorial standards that govern the agency today.

Senior Copywriter, Creative Services

November 2007 – June 2018

Independence Blue Cross · Philadelphia, PA

- Spent over a decade writing clear, compelling copy for one of the region's largest health insurers — spanning print, digital, direct mail, and video for both individual and national customer segments.
- Promoted to lead a team of five writers, an email specialist, and a mail specialist, managing workflow, creative quality, and professional development across the group.
- Transitioned to the in-house creative services agency to focus exclusively on writing, bringing a sharper creative lens to major campaigns and serving as the go-to senior writer for high-priority projects.
- Built strong cross-functional relationships with marketing, compliance, and brand teams — navigating a complex regulated industry while producing copy that was both human and effective.

Marketing Project Manager & Client Manager

August 2004 – November 2007

Vantage Technologies ·

- Managed marketing projects and client relationships, developing early fluency in translating business objectives into clear, audience-focused communications for web-based software company specializing in educational testing and artificial intelligence-based essay scoring.
